EC Study on European Research data landscape - Online survey for researchers

Visionary Analytics, in partnership with European Federation of Immunological Societies (EFIS), the Digital Curation Center (DCC), and Data Archiving and Networked Services (DANS) is conducting a study on the European research data landscape.

This study is commissioned by the European Commission's Directorate-General for Research and Innovation, and aims to provide a detailed characterisation of the research data ecosystem in the European context.

It will provide valuable information to develop more targeted policies and implement actions to integrate FAIR and open data practices in Europe.

Researchers are invited to be a part of this study, by answering questions as well as giving their opinion about researchers' data production, consumption, and depositing practices
